

NOTICES OF STRIKE, UNAUTHORIZED, POSTED IN SHOPS

REYES STONED BY ANGRY MOB

Sensation Made on Illinois Central By Secret Action.

NOTICE IS DISCLAIMED

Denial Comes From Union Officials East and West.

PADUCAH, Ky., Sept. 3.—That some one exceeded his authority in the Illinois Central labor controversy was evident here today when strike notices calling the men out at 10 a. m. Tuesday, were posted in the shops. They were removed so quickly that the notices were over the signatures of the advisory board of the federation of Illinois Central employees. Not only were the bulletins posted here, but it was said they had been mailed to all points on the Illinois Central.

CHICAGO, Sept. 3.—Reports that notices had been posted in the Illinois Central shops yesterday, calling a strike Tuesday, brought an emphatic denial from President J. F. McCree of the federated shop employees that a strike had been ordered.

"As matters stand," said McCree, "there is no possibility of a strike being called off so without proper authority and that no action along this line would be taken until Tuesday at latest."

DENIAL EMPHATIC.

CHICAGO, Sept. 3.—Reports that notices had been posted in the Illinois Central shops yesterday, calling a strike Tuesday, brought an emphatic denial from President J. F. McCree of the federated shop employees that a strike had been ordered.

"As matters stand," said McCree, "there is no possibility of a strike being called off so without proper authority and that no action along this line would be taken until Tuesday at latest."

"Some mistake has been made in Paducah. The only explanation I can suggest is that a misinterpretation has been put upon our letter to President Markham of the railroad asking for another conference between him and the international union of mechanics."

"Some of the men are getting restless and we have been urged by many locals to hurry matters. We are doing the best we can and believe it will not be necessary to call a strike."

Turbulent Maderists at Mexico City Break up Political Meeting in Spite of Police.

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 3.—Stoned and forcibly robbed of 3000 pesos today by a mob of Maderistas in the principal thoroughfare of the capital, General Bernardino Reyes, candidate for the Presidency in opposition to Francisco I. Madero, was forced to abandon an effort to address his constituents and to run the gauntlet of a jeering crowd upon whom the police had received orders not to fire except as a last resort.

Repeatedly the police charged the turbulent element, however, and the records of the Red Cross, the White Cross and the commissaries account for forty-three wounded as a result of the day's disorders. Most of these were injured by stones, but many show bruises and gashes made by the sabers of the mounted police.

The stoning of the aged general was the climax of a riot that began about 10 o'clock this morning and had not been entirely quelled late tonight. Since the beginning police and soldiers have patrolled the streets, but because of the government's desire not to use the iron hand the heavily armed horsemen had but an intimidatory effect upon the rabble.

Placing their faith in the word of the government that equal guarantees would be given all parties in the campaign, and trusting Madero's words that he would welcome honest opposition, the backers of Reyes last week called an open air meeting for today. It was announced General Reyes would make his initial speech in front of the $10,000,000 National theater in corner Alameda.

Early this morning groups of Maderistas began forming and threats to interfere with the Reyesistas meeting were heard. Shortly before 10 o'clock the partisans of Reyes began gathering in the Avenida Juarez and the two elements clashed near the western end of the Alameda. Near this turbulent scene, General Reyes, his son Rodolfo and a group of party leaders drove in an automobile. Far outnumbering his supporters, the Maderistas crowded about his machine, making difficult further progress.

Rebelling from the car, the general rebuked the mob but his words provoked louder jeers, supplemented by a rain of missiles. The automobile was abandoned. Its occupants walked the length of the Alameda to the center of the disturbance, a distance of four blocks, the riotous following and throwing stones.

Mounted police who had been trailing now rode their horses into the center of the mob which gave way. Entering a building facing the theater, Reyes and his escorts went to the second story, from where Reyes stepped to a balcony with the intention of addressing the crowd ever growing to great proportions.

Such was the disorder, however, that Reyes' escort attempted to dislodge him. The old man would not be deterred and raised his hand for silence. Instead, the tumult grew, and chunks of marble and rocks were hurled at the white-haired fighter. A number reached their mark and yet Reyes stood, despite the efforts of his son to induce him to seek shelter. For twenty minutes he remained there, daubing missiles which were hurled at him, and signs on the front of the building. The police, hated by the populace as the instrument used by Diaz to maintain order with an iron hand, had drawn their sabers and charged the crowd.

Content with momentary success and remembering their orders to deal gently with the mob, the police reformed after each charge and held their position on the opposite side of the street. Emboldened by the knowledge that the police did not intend to use drastic measures, the rabble turned its attention to them, hurling a shower of stones.

For more than an hour the fight continued. Inside the building Reyes' friends had succeeded in convincing him it was useless to try to carry out his program. The party had an automobile brought to the entrance and in it they started for the Reyes home in Santa Maria.

The chauffeur drove the car down Avenida Juarez at racing speed and a troop of mounted police galloped far in the rear. The flying automobile escaped most of the stones but the sabers of the police were stung at every jump by the crowd which now lined the avenue the length of the Alameda.

GENERAL WAS ROBBED.

Once free of the crowd, Reyes discovered he had been robbed of three thousand pesos ($1500). Rodolfo Reyes felt for his watch and it was gone. At least a dozen of the Reyes party had been the victims of pick pockets.

Meanwhile in the center of the city the authorities still had the problem of dealing with the rabble. Orders were sent to army headquarters and soon a troop of cavalry appeared. The army is not hated by the lower element as are the police. The soldiers were greeted with half-hearted cheers, although with sabers in hand and cartridge belts filled, they presented no reassuring aspect.

In an effort to clear Avenida Juarez and San Francisco, into which the rabble had fled, the troops were set marching up and down the thoroughfare. Respectfully the rioters gave way before their advance, closing in immediately behind them, leaving for the police the unpleasant duty of receiving a shower of missiles. At one point in Avenida San Juan the popular favor for the army men was shown by occupants of galleries who threw up flowers.

Early in the afternoon the main body of the rioters was broken into three groups which paraded the streets, halting at intervals to listen to some harangue. Mounted police, soldiers could be seen from almost any street intersection in the downtown district, but rarely was any attempt made to disperse the small gatherings who joyously continued their work of pelting until long after dark.

HILL DEFENDS HIS COURSE AT BERLIN

Shows That President Taft Approved Work as Ambassador.

BERLIN, Sept. 3.—David Jayne Hill, the retiring American ambassador, on his departure from Berlin has broken his silence and has issued a statement which was accepted by President Taft last April. The ambassador gave out a statement today intimating that there had been a deliberate intrigue to discredit him and misrepresent the reasons for his resignation.

He announced his determination of a decoration which the emperor offered him.

"At the time of my resignation in April," says the ambassador, "there was much speculation regarding the reason for my departure from Berlin. I have taken no notice of either the source or the motive of these allegations. I have now no comment to make upon them."

"On leaving office six months after my resignation, I believe that it will be a pleasure to me to make public at this time an autographed statement made by him some months ago, which should effectually silence and exterminate the legend which certain newspapers have endeavored to keep alive."

PRESIDENT'S LETTER.

"He says: 'I write now to assure you that I never had the slightest reason to criticize your course and service at the important post of Berlin. I have vindicated your appointment in every way and it has given me pleasure to deny emphatically and categorically that your resignation grew out of any disagreement on the part of the administration with your conduct in this country's relations with Germany. I regard to the point of any other question. I write this to you for you are entitled to have a full statement as to your satisfactory service written by him whom you have worthily and well represented at the great capital of Europe.'"

"I make public this statement for the purpose of assuring my friends in Europe and America of my faithful allegiance to the principles of loyalty by which I have been actuated throughout my official life which has been of considerable duration and to show my appreciation of the sense of justice by which the President was inspired in recognizing the wrong done me by others, whose misrepresentations as he has declared, as far as possible to rectify, in circumstances which I have reason to believe he at present entirely understands."

GIVES NO DETAILS.

Ambassador Hill was not willing to indicate more closely the persons he believes were interested in discrediting him.

The ambassador and Mrs. Hill will leave Berlin tomorrow after a lunch in their honor given by Herr Von Kiderlin-Waechter, secretary of foreign affairs, to which Dr. Von Bethmann-Hollweg, the imperial chancellor, Representative Richard Bartholdt, and C. H. Wolfman, the special ambassador of President Taft, will be invited.

A bit of porcelain, given by Emperor William to the ambassador, is a magnificent vase, three feet in height, decorated with pictures of the emperor's palace.

MINERS MEET HORRIBLE END

6 Men Butchered While Ascending Shaft by Rotary Steel Drills and Are Thrown to Bottom

HUTTE, Sept. 3.—Caught in a vortex of whirling steel machine drills in a mine case while being hoisted to the surface, six miners met instant death in the shaft of the Black Rock mine of the Butte Superior Company at 3:15 o'clock this morning, while the sixth, James Lee, died a few hours later in the hospital from the injuries received. In their anxiety to reach the surface the workmen jumped on the cage upon which dull drills were being hoisted to the surface. It is presumed that their crowding dislodged the steel shafts from the box in which they were held and they caught in the wall plates on the side of the shaft. The impact of the force among the miners was terrific, clearing the deck of the mine, fairly mashing their bodies as the steel hoisted back and forth, and sweeping them into the snare, 1,400 feet below. Charles Green, station tender, finally was hurled from the upper deck of the cage to the lower level and was decapitated as were all the other miners with the exception of Lee, whose head was smashed to a pulp.

The dead: Charles Green, 23, married; Leo Chevalier, 21, unmarried; Patrick O'Neil, 22, unmarried; Don Sheehan, 30, unmarried; James Lee, 34, unmarried; Daniel Shea, 36, unmarried.

Thomas Denahay, station tender, pleaded with the miners not to board the cage while steel was being hoisted as the act was in violation of the company's rules, but they passed by him, as they were anxious to reach the surface before "dilly."

At stepped on the cage below the 1,000 foot level with the exception of Green and Lee, Denahay left the cage at that station and was succeeded by his partner, Green.

The signal to hoist had been given and the cage had shot upward to a point between the 400 and 500 foot levels when the steel began to move. It is the conjecture that it became a death-dealing mass in a moment, for one drill is stuck in the wall plate and bent double. Instantly the men were crushed and torn, while their bodies were hoisted with tremendous force off the deck to the top just below the 1,800 foot level, where the fragments of flesh and mangled organs were found in about three feet of water.

DURANT, Okla., Sept. 3.—Horace Gribble, a white farmer, was killed in a battle between five white men and five negroes near Caddo, last night. The negroes were fired upon when passing the home of a negro named Daniels; while the whites threw a stick of dynamite at the hut and then commenced firing.

A feeling against the negroes is bitter and further race trouble is feared. After the encounter a white man fled to Caddo and told of the fight. Officers hastened to the scene and found the body of Gribble. The negroes did not know they had killed the man until informed by the authorities.

The negroes here, fearing retaliation by the whites, are sacrificing their crops and property in order to get away.

DURANT, Okla., Sept. 3.—Two brothers, named Daniel and Will Stevens, both negroes, were arrested Sunday morning by Sheriff A. F. Hamilton, at the home of the Stevenses, charged with the murder of Horace Gribble. They were spirited out of the country to prevent a lynching by a mob which soon collected at Caddo and it is thought they were taken to McAlester.

None of the negroes attempted to leave the house where the shooting occurred and they still claim that they were attacked by nine white men.

George White and Bill Braddock, white men who were with Gribble when he was shot, say that he was killed instantly. Both factions fought with rifles. Feeling was high at Caddo, and all of the negro residents of that town left early Sunday morning, about fifty seeking safety in other sections of the country.

Quiet reigned at Caddo by nightfall, and there was no further talk of violence.

STOCKTON, Sept. 3.—Lafayette McCall, a salesman living here, had a narrow escape from death today when he was fired on by two highwaymen. McCall was driving along the lower Sacramento river in an automobile when the men standing by the roadside ordered him to halt. He paid no attention to the command. As he passed one of the men drew a revolver and fired at McCall. The bullet passed through his hat. The robbers fled.

DOCTOR AND WIFE KILLED IN AUTO

VENTURA, Sept. 3.—Crushed under their two ton touring car, Dr. and Mrs. E. S. Pillsbury of Hollywood, Los Angeles, met instant death on the treacherous Castles pass grade about 3 o'clock today. Dr. Pillsbury and his wife were traveling from their home in Hollywood to Santa Barbara. The car, which had been newly purchased, Dr. and Mrs. Pillsbury were riding in the front seat with their three children in the tonneau. Going over a grade about a half mile below the Wadsworth ranch the machine ran off the road and plunged downward, turning over and over.

The children though badly bruised, were not seriously injured. Dr. and Mrs. Pillsbury were caught under the wreckage. The bodies were brought here tonight.

HUNDREDS LIE UNBURIED IN YANG TSE VALLEY

Summer Floods Cause Untold Suffering in Central China.

RICE CROP DESTROYED

Half Million People Homeless; Relief Funds Are Provided.

PEKING, Sept. 3.—Summer floods along the Yang Tse Kiang and its tributaries and also other great rivers are repeating in various provinces the conditions in Anhwei and Kiensu, which have not yet been relieved. In the province of Anhwei early in August hundreds of thousands of acres of rice were destroyed and a half million persons were rendered homeless.

Many thousands of square miles are now submerged and the bodies of hundreds of persons lie unburied. The Chinese government as well as appeals from the United States and other countries is subsidizing relief funds, which is a departure for the administration. It shows the advance toward modern ways, but the project for attacking the root of the evil, control of the water ways and the reclaiming of lands has only been mildly discussed.

Beattie Will Tell Story of Wife's Death to Jury.

CHESTERFIELD COURT HOUSE, Va., Sept. 3.—Henry Clay Beattie, Jr., indicted for the murder of his wife, had a conference today with Harry M. Smith, Jr., his lawyer today. Beattie will take the stand tomorrow in an effort to clear himself of the charge against him. The conference was brief. Smith finally shook the hand of the prisoner. Beattie's best wishes for the outcome of the trial.

"I am very glad to get the chance to go on the stand," said the prisoner to an Associated Press representative. "They could not keep me off if they tried."

"Did somebody try to keep you from the stand?"

"Yes. Some people thought I would weaken my case if I testified, but I told them, and I say now that I'd go on that stand and tell my story if I thought I was going to be killed the next minute. I want to tell the jury my story and when they hear it, I am confident their verdict will establish my innocence."

Beattie did not look as bright today as he has on other occasions since the trial began. His face was pallid and his eyes lids sagged as if he has lost sleep. The little cell that he occupied was cheerless. Tonight two dainty little girls, one in pink and the other in white, proudly brought the prisoner his supper. He retired early to rest for the ordeal tomorrow.

The prisoner will take the stand immediately after court convenes at 10:30 o'clock. In the rebuttal, which will follow on Tuesday, the commonwealth will bring to the stand many witnesses which it has purposely withheld until the story of the accused is before the jury. Beattie Blinford, the so-called "girl in the case," may take the stand to confront the prisoner.

"Whether Beattie is called to the stand or not," said Smith today, "will depend on the revelations made by Henry in his testimony. If he is called it probably will be by the commonwealth and we wish they would do so."

Attorney Smith referred to reports of an alleged effort of the prisoner to communicate with the Blinford girl while they were in the commonwealth Richmond jail and of a discarded "trusty."

The letters, which the prosecution has "explained" Smith, "are merely personal letters from members of the family of the damsel to him and in no way concerned the Blinford girl."

SEA MONSTERS TO BE READY IN NOVEMBER

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—The sister dreadnaughts Florida and Utah, the navy, will be in fighting trim by November 15th, according to the calculations of the naval experts. Within a week the Utah, just placed in commission, will enter the docks of the New York navy yard to receive the installation of her guns. As such secrecy surrounds the dreadnaughts they are invariably constructed at a government yard instead of the plant of a private builder. The Florida will be placed in commission about September 15th and will be ready for active service simultaneously with the Utah.

SEARCH FOR OREGON BANDITS FAILS

REDDING, Sept. 3.—Bloodhounds taken to the scene of the robbery of the Oregon express near Lamorne, failed to pick up the scent of the bandits. The scene of the wreck had been trampled over by hundreds before the arrival of the dogs and the ground is so hard and stony that no foot-prints or other marks could be discerned. The country has been thoroughly searched for miles in every direction from Lamorne and no trace of the robbers' trail has been discovered. The theory that the robbers escaped in an automobile has been discarded and Sheriff Montgomery and an abut a few of the railroad and express company detectives have abandoned the chase.

NON-UNION BRIDGE IN NEW YORK BLOWN UP

MOUNT VERNON, N. Y., Sept. 3.—One of the sections of the viaduct on the New York, West Chester and Boston Electric Railroad was blown up tonight. Three men, said to have been carrying satchels, a magneto box and a coil of wire, were seen in the vicinity of the viaduct shortly before the explosion. The bridge is being built by non-union men.

"AMY" WILL BE PLAYED AGAIN TONIGHT BY NEWMAN-FOLTZ COMPANY AT BARTON

Walter Newman, of the Newman-Foltz Company, now playing a two weeks' engagement at the Barton.

At the Barton Opera House tonight, the Newman-Foltz Company will present "Amy" for the last performance, and for three performances commencing tomorrow night will offer one of the recent successes, a dramatization of Marie Corelli's greatest novel, "The Master." This well known story is one of the most widely read books in our public library and the play follows the story closely. The location of the scenes of the play gives a chance for some charming scenic settings, and the quaint costumes of Norway. Mr. Newman and Miss Foltz have two of their best characterizations and the supporting company all have a chance for clever work. The story deals with Theima, a little Norwegian girl, who marries an English tourist who is spending a holiday in the Norwegian wilds. She accompanies him to London and her innocent mind cannot see the follies and frivolities of London society and she pines for her old home. Her husband decides to give up society out of love for his wife and return to the land of ice. In the last act is the beautiful Aurora Borealis, and the quaint burial service when the body of the old Norwegian is consigned to the deep in an open boat which is set adrift and set on fire, an old Norwegian superstition. Between acts several new vaudeville features will be introduced. "Theima" is the bill for Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday nights. Seats are now on sale for all performances at popular prices, 10, 20 and 30 cents.

COMPLAINT IS MADE ABOUT NOISY BOYS

A woman residing at the corner of F and Santa Clara streets early yesterday morning informed the police that a gang of young boys had been in the habit every Saturday night of congregating in front of her house and talking loud and making such a disturbance that her slumbers were disturbed. The informant also said that the boys were in front of her home at that time. Patrolman McLaren went to the corner but the boys had departed.

LABORER DIES FROM ATTACK OF THE HEART

E. C. Mills Suddenly Drops
Dead While Standing
Near Scraper.

While at work on a construction gang which is grading for a railroad through the Helin ranch, twenty-five miles from Fresno, E. C. Mills, a laborer, about 55 years of age, suddenly Saturday night suffered an attack of heart trouble and died before medical aid could be summoned. Coroner William Bean was notified and the remains were brought to Fresno early yesterday morning.

An inquest will be held this morning. Mills had been working on the grading gang for about two months and on one or two occasions had complained of his heart bothering him. His fellow workers paid no attention to his remarks but Saturday, while standing near a scraper, Mills suddenly threw up his hands and fell to the ground. He was dead by the time any of the workmen reached his side. Coroner Bean has notified relatives in Long Beach of the death of Mills. The remains will be held here until word is received from the relatives at Long Beach.

CONGRESSIONAL ECONOMY.
Congress has appropriated $301,052. It has repealed appropriations aggregating $347,050, a saving of $46,997. In addition it has declined to appropriate $140,885 as extra compensation of members of Congress, and a Democratic House has reduced its pay roll in the sum of $111,443, so that the total saving in money as a result of the enforcement of Democratic policies during the present session of Congress is $208,536.—Washington (U. C.) Star.

HANGMAN TIRES OF JOB

News comes from Sydney that the hangman has resigned his position. It seems that seven death sentences have been commuted recently by the labor government, and as the executioners would have gained 10 pounds in the case of each malefactor as a special remuneration, he doubtless considers that his emoluments have been trifled with. His "fixed wage" was 2 pounds a week, whether anybody was to be hanged or not. He may have suffered from "moratorium" for in his three years' service, he had not operated in a single instance.—London Tidd-Bits.

MINISTER WANTS MORAL QUALIFICATION FOR VOTERS IN U. S.

Rev. Hughes Declares That Alien and Registration
Laws Slack.

Inveighs Against Deceit in the Pulpit and in Business.

Rev. Thomas Hughes, at Grace M. E. church yesterday, talked on "Crowns As It Were," a sermon devoted to exposure of many shams of life, and to a discussion of real success as set off against its flashy imitation. In the course of the talk, he touched on the suffrage question, declaring the aliens in this country present a more serious problem than the negro ex-slave, and advocating more stringent immigration laws.

After showing the falseness of the ideals of Napoleon, Lady Macbeth and David, and finally sketched a cartoon of William J. Bryan, a type of deception.

"A double game is a devil's game," he said, "it matters not who plays it. A preacher who deceives by tears and fair words is a wolf in sheep's clothing. Business men, whether real estate agent, fruit buyer or of any other business calling, who endeavor to gain their 'crowns' through deception are a menace to society."

Man, he said, is a moral being and so obligated to submit to moral law. "Society," he pursued, "is not a club of the gay, smart and immoral. Society exists for the individual's good morals and the proper relations of human society."

Discussing the franchise, he said: "This country has settled some of the greatest problems that have ever faced the nation in regard to the liberty and happiness of mankind, but another problem is now at our doors, the problem of the rights of franchise. We may despise the negro, yet the negro, in my mind, is not the greatest problem we have to face in franchise. The aliens, many of them, are a greater danger than the negro, and we are not altogether free from danger from our own boys and girls. I do not advocate race distinction at the polls—that is, touching the classes eligible to citizenship. But I do advocate that every man who is ignorant of the U. S. and ignorant in character shall be excluded from the polls."

"I am an Englishman and say frankly that I believe the U. S. A. is justified in prohibiting men from voting for seven years from the time of coming into the country; but the law does not go far enough. It should exclude men from the polls entirely unless I consider it worth while to make a study of the why and wherefore of American politics. What right has any man to cast a vote for that of which he is ignorant? A vote cast in ignorance is a great crime. The U. S. A. gives a man a privilege to know the why and wherefore of her political life. The man who does not count the privilege worth while ought to be excluded from the polls.

"Our method of registration is too slack. If the young men of this country were given to understand that knowledge and morals were requisite to citizenship, politics would win respect, would appeal to manhood, and not be a gambling game."

CHARGED WITH HAVING WORKED BUNCO GAME

John Savis Is Accused of Receiving $12.50 in Confederate Bill.

Because he is alleged to have bunced Gultano Vezzel out of $12.50 on a $50 Confederate greenback, John Savis was placed under arrest Sunday morning by Patrolmen Morris and McKee and charged with obtaining money under false pretenses. A complaint will be issued against him this morning or tomorrow. Tony Zopp, Yach-lana Agostallo and Scarciano Nicola were witnesses to the alleged bunco game and they will be called upon to testify at the trial if Savis pleads not guilty to the charge against him.

According to the information placed in the hands of the police, Savis met Vezzel and his companions Saturday night. Savis proved to be a "good fellow" and he stayed with the men until early yesterday morning. While walking around, Savis stopped and picked up the $50 bill, which proved to be a Confederate greenback, and claiming that he wanted to be square, he offered to give his companions part of the money.

They readily consented and Vezzel is alleged to have given $12.50 for the greenback and he later was going to divide with his friends. When they attempted to secure silver at a store, they learned that the bill was worthless. Immediately finding the two politicians, they related their troubles and Savis was later found and lodged in jail.

One of the men in the party now believes that he saw Savis drop the bill and then pretend that he had just found it. It is thought that perhaps the same game has been worked on other foreigners and the police are making an attempt to locate any one who has been swindled in such a manner.

SUFFRAGE WILL WIN

The anti-suffragettes in Oakland made the blunder of getting that infatuated old blubber John P. Irish to plead their cause of alleged "chivalry." The result is reported to have been more gains to the suffrage cause than were ever made by a single speech before.

The fact is that this suffrage amendment is going to carry this year, by a vote that will astonish the state. The labor vote is for women suffrage. That will carry San Francisco, even against the opposition of the saloons. Both the reformers and the Socialists in Los Angeles are for it. That will carry Los Angeles. Most of the newspapers of the state are for it. Doubtless in many cases this represents a little more than jumping aboard a popular bandwagon, but that is the very reason it is significant. Newspapers may not always have a very keen sense of what is right or true, but their very existence depends on their possession of an expert intuition of what is popular. So when both the down-stream and the up-stream type of newspapers take up women suffrage, we may be sure the drift is that way.

There is, in fact, almost no active opposition to the amendment. The resistance is passive, founded in human inertia. Any radical change offends some minds. A change that upsets their traditional notion of the "sphere of women" offends still more minds. But one needs only to look around him to realize that the sphere of women is already changed. The "domestic" woman, whose life was bound by the labors of her home is not yet extinct, but she is no longer typical. Above a certain degree of wealth, the women of the family no longer work anywhere. They constitute our only leisure class. We have no leisure class of men. Below a certain degree of wealth, the daughters of the house no longer work at home, though the mothers may. The daughters work elsewhere, for pay. Between—mostly in the mothers' generation—is the vanishing type of the purely domestic woman. The domestic woman may not want the vote, and may not need it. But the vote needs her. The leisure-class woman may not need the vote. She does not need anything, and has more rights now than any one ought to have. What she needs is not rights, but duties. Voting is one of these, a burden, not a privilege. The working class woman pre-eminently needs the vote, and she is the important woman. So, if the argument against women suffrage is merely a vague sentiment for the old domestic conditions, the answer is that those conditions have ceased forever. And the help of women is needed in establishing new conditions. Woman is an individual, now, not merely an appendage. The logic of the situation entitles her to vote, the problems of the time need her help, and the prognostications of the time indicate that she will have an early chance to give it.

FIREPROOF JAIL

INSURED FOR $100,000

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 3.—The discovery by the Supervisors that the new county jail, which is supposed to be fireproof, has been carrying a fire insurance of $100,000 since its construction and that the furniture and fixtures therein, which are practically worthless, are insured for $100,000, has created a sensation here. Before his solo had died away, it is predicted that a general canceling of insurance policies will be made.

For over two years the fire insurance companies have been teasing off the new county jail. The new county jail was constructed at a cost of $150,000, and was built under a fireproof contract. Immediately, however, upon its completion, it was insured for $100,000, all various companies here sharing in the million cutting. Ever since that time the county has been paying premiums on this high insurance.

CONTRACTORS DEFAULT ON LODI PAVING

STOCKTON, Sept. 3.—Twice contractors have defaulted on their agreements to pave the streets of Lodi and the citizens of that city have reached a stage of exasperation when they are to get the improvement. The work is expected to cost about $25,000.

The first bid for the work was awarded to the Barber Asphalt Company, supposed to be one of the largest concerns of the kind in America. However, this company failed to do so, and bids were called for by the city and new bids were called for by the city.

The next contract was awarded to the Ransome-Crummey Company of San Francisco at $25,072. But that concern failed to sign the official contract last night and its certified check of $5,000 will be declared forfeited by the city trustees next Monday evening at the regular meeting. The city will soon be in a position to pave the streets free of cost to the residents.

OUR TREATMENT OF ALASKA. History is likely to brand as almost criminal the treatment which the powers that be in Washington have for years past been conducting to Alaska, and which has even led to threats of secession. Here is a territory more extensive than some powerful empires, rich in diversified resources, capable of producing untold wealth, and of giving homes to millions of people. Yet, while every other part of our national domain is being exploited without stint, this great realm of the north is kept in a state of backwardness and stagnation. Antiquated and illiberal federal statutes restrict and paralyze enterprise within its bounds. Why are these not modified to suit modern conditions, and why is Alaska not allowed to utilize her natural gifts?

Sad to say, among the principal obstacles to Alaska's progress have been the muckrakers, with their dupes, the timid politicians. The wild and malicious allegations of the yellow writers and the demagogues have been potent in deterring the legislative and executive action that alone can free Alaska from her economic fetters. It is good to discern that the influence of the muck-flinging gentry has begun to decline and their power to wage war from Leslie's Weekly.

THE FAST-FLYING RED DEVIL. A disheveled citizen rushed into a Boston police station Saturday afternoon and asked for vengeance.

"The automobile that hit me five minutes ago was No. 4114," she sputtered.

"I can prove that he was exceeding the speed limit, and I want—I want—"

"What do you want for his arrest?"

"Want?" nothing! What good would a warrant do me at the rate he was going? I want extradition papers."—From the Boston Traveler.

BODIES RECOVERED. TOLEDO, Sept. 3.—The bodies of William D. Carroll, bookkeeper of the water works and William Blatt, an inspector, who were drowned with five others in Maumee Bay yesterday when their launch was struck by the heavy Philip Minch, were recovered today. The police used dynamite in efforts to raise the other five bodies.

PIUS X'S POLICY WILL CONTROL IN PAPAL ELECTION

His Appointees Already Number One Third of the Cardinals.

ROME, Sept. 3.—The death recently of Cardinal Moran of Sydney created the twenty-third vacancy in the Sacred College, the present composition of which, and its probable action in the event of an early Conclave, are always subjects of lively interest and particularly so since the latest indisposition of the Pope.

Of the sixty-four Cardinals who elected the present Pontiff, thirty-one have since died. Four years have elapsed since Pius X. held his last Conclave, in which new Cardinals were created, and the present membership of the Sacred College is made up of one Cardinal, Orsini di Sesto Stefano, created by Pius IX.; thirty created by Leo XIII.; and sixteen chosen by the present Pontiff, which means that the last represent one-third of the whole.

If therefore there should be a Conclave under present conditions, it is doubtful whether what many people confidently expect would take place, that is, the election of Leo XIV., who would be Cardinal Rampolla. To be elected Pope, it is necessary to have two-thirds of the vote in one's favor, and while not all the old Cardinals who opposed the ex-Secretary of State in the Conclave of 1903 are now favorable to his candidature, it would be difficult for him to gather votes among those created by Pius X.

DE LA LIAISON. This situation will be considerably altered by the addition of new Cardinals which cannot fail to come soon, either at the end of this year, immediately after the close of the festivities of the Italian Jubilee, or at the beginning of 1912, but the change, it is believed, will not be in favor of the possible candidature for the Papacy of Cardinal Rampolla, or of one of the wearers of the purple of the time of Leo XIII. This for the reason that the influence of the new element is being felt more and more strongly.

Predictions are largely guess-work, but the prevailing sentiment appears to be that Cardinal De La LIAISON, Secretary of the Consistorial Congregation, would be one of the most favored candidates for the Papacy crown.

Like Pius X., he comes from the Venetian provinces, is most energetic, active and intelligent, uniting all the qualities necessary to meet the needs of the Papacy, and having no past which has committed him to any particular policy, would be freer and stronger than any of the Cardinals who, like Rampolla, Yarnutielli, Aglioni, were candidates in the last Conclave and whose election would have meant a special direction in the policy of the Holy See.

TO CANONIZE PIUS IX. The preliminary investigations, to be later submitted to the Congregation of Rites, to decide whether the "Servant of God," Pius IX., will be admitted to the process for beatification and canonization, continue here with unabated ardor, especially in the dioceses of Benigaglia Imola, Spoleto, Naples and Gaeta, where that Pope lived in the last trying period of his long and stormy ecclesiastical life.

In each of these places special diocesan tribunals have been formed to collect evidence, to hear witnesses, to put together all the writings which can be found of that Pontiff. At Imola alone 800 letters have already been discovered, and a new list of the possession of that tribunal, which is submitting them to a close investigation.

POPE TAKES WALKS. Until his recent illness, Pope Pius X., following the advice of his physicians, took daily walks in the Vatican gardens, and has even gone as far as the famous observatory, directed, as is known by an American astronomer, Father John J. Hagan, formerly of the Georgetown Observatory. Father Hagan wished to show the three old observers which form this group of observatories to the Pontiff, but Pius X. shook his head in negation, saying: "I can come and look at them from the outside, and even come to your door, but I cannot climb your flights of stairs. I must wait until another American friend of yours, generous as the one who gave the American bridge, will present you with an American elevator."

The Pontiff referred to a bridge connecting two antique walls between the observatories, along which one can now walk in safety, thanks to an American. MOVING SCHOOLS. An interesting experiment is being carried on in the arid district about Rome, along the sea coast, and among the Abruzzi mountains, which has been possible only through private charity. Literacy has always been a characteristic of the Italian peasant, especially in the south; so much so that while the percentage in the north is so great as to raise 60 per cent. Education is obligatory, but it is difficult to enforce when the peasant cannot even dress his large family decently, and the children perhaps have to tramp miles for the privilege of attending school, while in the mountains or in deserted districts there are often no schools available.

It is just this want which is met by the present plan. What are called "Moving Schools" have been established in districts where there are no regular schools, and they are in one spot today and far away tomorrow. They comprise night schools for the workers, summer schools for the peasants coming down from the mountains to the plains, and children's classes in the open air or set up under any available shelter.

They descended for the night at Triway, a village north of Zanesville, Ohio, where they were forced to land. They had landed at Newark, where they spent nearly two hours.

The Youngstown men left Dayton yesterday with the hope of beating the record of Alwood for sustained flight. They were carrying a passenger. They were forced to descend, however, and spent last night here after having flown from Dayton to Columbus at the rate of a mile a minute.

Young Mothers

No young woman, in the joy of coming motherhood, should neglect to prepare her system for the physical ordeal she is to undergo. The health of both she and her coming child depends largely upon the care she bestows upon herself during the waiting months. Mother's Friend prepares the expectant mother's system for the coming event, and its use makes her comfortable during all the term. It works with and for nature, and by gradually expanding all tissues, muscles and tendons, involved, and keeping the breasts in good condition, brings the woman to the crisis in splendid physical condition. The baby too is more apt to be perfect and strong where the mother has thus prepared herself for nature's supreme function. No better advice could be given a young expectant mother than that she use Mother's Friend; it is a medicine that has proven its value in thousands of cases. Mother's Friend is sold at drug stores. WILL DISCUSS ANGLES OF THE MUZZLING LAW

Chief of Police Jones and Health Officer Aiken Are to Confer.

Chief of Police Jones and Dr. George H. Aiken, city health physician, will hold a consultation this morning at 10 o'clock at the city hall in order to arrive at some definite conclusion in regard to the dog muzzling ordinance, which was recently passed by the city trustees.

The conference between the police chief and the city health officer will come as the result of the biting of a little boy on the street late last night by a dog which was not muzzled. The dog was passing in front of the Boston apartment house when the canine ran out and bit him. It is not thought that the dog was suffering from rabies. The owner of the dog will probably be arrested this morning for not having the beast muzzled.

Since the muzzling ordinance went into effect, many people have flatly refused to put muzzles on their dogs and the police have threatened to shoot unmuzzled dogs at night but still many owners persist in today's law. The enforcement of the muzzling ordinance has never before been brought to the notice of the new chief of police.

POPE IS AGAIN REPORTED ILL

ROME, Sept. 3.—Reports are again in circulation regarding the ill health of the Pope, but there seems little reason for anxiety. The Pope is suffering from a slight swelling of the left knee. His Holiness celebrated mass today, walked in the Vatican gardens, and had a long conversation with Cardinal Farnetti. He showed an evidence of indisposition.

WOMAN OBTAINS LOAN OF $29,000 OUT OF BANK'S CAPITAL, $42,000

CLEVELAND, Sept. 3.—A brick yard that never made bricks, a railroad that lacks a right of way and Mrs. S. F. Moore, an optimist of Elyria, Ohio, are the chief figures in the assignment of the Perryville Banking Company of Perryville, Ohio. The bank closed its doors Friday.

Mrs. Moore borrowed $29,000 from the bank to promote a railroad and a brick yard. Her security was a note signed by herself and husband. The deposits of the bank totaled only $42,000. The cashier who lent the money, C. L. Morton, is Mrs. Moore's brother-in-law.

Morton has been discharged and J. B. Lindley, assignee, went to Cleveland today to ask for a settlement from Mrs. Moore. She announced that the repayment of the loans depends upon the success of her railroad project down in the Virginia fruit lands.

SAYS REAL MAN CHRIST UNKNOWN; CHURCHES PREACH IDEAL

Rev. Clayton at Unitarian Church Preaches on

Real vs. Ideal.

Says Orthodox Conception Beautiful, But Only a Conception.

Rev. Thomas Clayton, at the Unitarian church yesterday morning, preached on "The Ideals and Realities of Life," declaring men have built up ideal divinities until they have conceived their real. He said the actual, historic Jesus was a "great unknown," while the Man of Galilee presented from orthodox pulpits is a beautiful ideal built up through the centuries of the present era. He spoke as follows:
"There is the difference between the solid globe of a sun and its area of light. Our sun has an estimated diameter of 880,000 miles; but its light is distributed over a circle of more than 3,000 millions of miles. Take this as an illustration of the vast difference between the solid realities of our lives, and the aerial ideals that emanate from our fertile minds; between our aspirations and their realization. For instance, when did you ever measure up to your own ideal of nobleness of soul? Have you not rather severely accused yourselves of baseness, and of gross immorality in the past, and advocating such high ideals, and in living so far beneath them?
"Or, when did you ever finish a piece of work entirely to your own satisfaction; or without seeking serious flaws in it, when you laid it alongside of your cherished ideal of perfect workmanship?
"Again, when did possession or realization of things earnestly hoped for, fully satisfy your soul, and not leave a pang of deep disappointment, not to any mind of man is capable of sketching out an ideal world in its marvelous imagination; but his weak powers and feeble will are incapable of building such a sublime edifice. For our ideals are the architectural plans of our lives; both individual and social. Like some of the cathedrals and cathedrals of the old world, they take an entire lifetime, or even the life of several generations to complete, and are often left unfinished forever. We grow impatient or discouraged at the little progress we make toward realization, but we work steadily on, we do accomplish much, and make real much of our ideal life. The best part of our life consists in patiently working to make real the ideals we have conceived.

APPLIED TO THE WORLD

"At once a question arises—How much of the universe we see or conceive is real, or merely ideal?
"Some assert none of it is real; that the universe is an ideal, and exists only in the mind. Yet even these have to assume realities as the basis of all reasoning or action.
"Others, declaring the mind is incapable of verifying the existence of anything, because it receives only an indirect image of outside objects, and said image is distorted by the senses, which are often imperfect and vary with each individual organism. Yet, here again, such people have to assume some realities behind the images and impressions conveyed through the imperfect senses.
"Others, like myself, may be called realists, who believe that things are what they seem to be, and that the fact that we must have some certainties as the basis of our thinking and our actions. This is illustrated by chemical experiments. If the chemist did not assume the actual existence of atoms of oxygen, hydrogen, carbon, etc., he could not make any experiments; and not only so, but he works on, confident that certain combinations and proportions will always bring particular results, and as a result of his assumptions we have all the fruits and triumphs of modern chemistry.
"Yet it is truly a difficult task to discriminate between the ideal and the real; and this difficulty has led to many serious mistakes that have brought disastrous consequences to mankind.
"We have cherished ideals so long, that like children with the oft repeated nursery tales, they have come to regard them as realities.
"It is difficult now for many of us to believe that Hamlet and say Sherlock Holmes, are only creations of the imagination. It is true these characters reflect something similar to what has actually existed but the Hamlet we love and admire is the poetic ideal of William Shakespeare. Just as the 'Orthodox Devil' is the creation of the mighty genius of John Milton, or 'Faust' the child of the brain of Goethe. These imagined personalities exist for us, as really as the friends we meet every day.
"From this point, putting our subject to practical use, we would say, mankind has cherished ideal divinities so long, that they have grown to be real, and men have become dogmatic and bigoted about them, and behaved very cruelly and unjustly toward those who have refused to believe they were real. The persecution of heretics in every age has been the desire to make men accept what others have conceived, as actual existences.
"Let, please to notice that men's

Ideal divinities have changed with the advance of knowledge, so that many ancient conceptions of God are now repudiated as utterly unworthy; and so far from the modern idea of God being even approximately correct, it is likely to change much with the new view of the universe that many scientists now warn us is soon to burst upon our minds. If God is our ideal of Infinity and Perfection, He must necessarily remain the incomprehensible. Or other words, He can never be more than ideal to us. This ideal will also constantly change (for the better, of course) with the advancing of the human mind.

IDEA OF CHRIST.

"This fact has a very important application to the idea of the Christ held by the churches. Undoubtedly, there was an historic Jesus, but how little do we really know about the actual 'Man of Galilee.' The Gospels do not cover a tenth of his life. He is 2,000 years away from us; we can never know him exactly as he was. During those 2,000 years, men have been developing the ideal 'Christ' preached in all the so-called orthodox pulpits of today. Yet these men must see, if they will only pause and think, that they are only presenting an ideal Christ, the one whom they have conceived in their own minds. Why, then, do they so severely condemn those who cannot see in their Christ more than an ideal? Why declare such to be enemies of God, etc., when in reality they are only an ideal for men to believe in? The sublime and beautiful idea; but we do not intend it is an ideal only. For evidence, read church history, and see how much the ideal Christ has been changed from age to age. Meanwhile, the real or historic Christ remains, we repeat, the great unknown.

"May we not see in all these ideal divinities, the manifestation of a Divine Spirit of Life, as it reveals itself in and through human thought and consciousness? Are we not ourselves manifestations of God, changing from glory into the same image, but in only one mind and intellect, of that which we think of as infinite and perfect?
"All our ideals tend in a measure to realize themselves in our lives. To realize the great value of high ideal thoughts, even tend to become concrete actions. Some of us say, 'Sow a thought and reap a sentiment. Sow a sentiment and reap a purpose. Sow a purpose and reap a habit. Sow a habit and reap a character. Sow a character and reap a destiny.'
"Then, too, in making our ideals real in a measure, we enlarge the bulk of our actual life, and thus create a basis for larger and grander ideals. For it is the great souls that conceive the sublime ideals. Sirius, we are told, is but three times the bulk of our sun, but his light-giving power is many times larger; so the greater our personality becomes, the loftier grow our ideals and in far greater proportion. Hence, the gulf between the ideal and the real will always remain. If it does not grow greater, but that must not discourage us, for the grandest ideals must necessarily have the greatest influence to make us better.
"Our satisfaction and reward is in growth, or progress. For to cease to grow is to cease to live. We are better today than yesterday, because of our ideals upon the realities of our lives.

LINDSAY WILL HAVE NEW MODERN THEATER

Old Pioneer Plans Artistic Structure to Cost About $10,000.

LINDSAY, Sept. 3.—A new theater, it has been definitely announced, is soon to be built here by Capt. A. J. Hutchinson, an old Lindsay pioneer. This place at present has no playhouse. The proposed structure will be modern in every respect, with a seating capacity of about 1000, and to be built at a cost of about $10,000 to $12,000.
The building, which will be in the heart of the city, is to be of the mission design, and architect's drawings show it will be an attractive architectural structure. The stage dimensions will be thirty-three feet in depth and thirty feet opening. The building itself will be seventy-two feet wide between the side walls, with a forty-foot fly gallery.

The new theater is to be managed by C. H. Geldert, an orange grower of this district who has had experience in the theatrical business.
S. J. Stanford is considering a proposition to build another garage for this place to accommodate the great increase in the number of machines owned in this district. He is contemplating a brick building, fifty by 150 feet in size, opposite the Southern Pacific depot. The automobile census shows an increase in the number of machines here, from a score about a year ago to sixty-seven at the present time.

VETERAN WRITES ABOUT DIRECT LEGISLATION IS G. A. R. ENCAMPMENT AT ROCHESTER

J. E. Burns Describes How

Los Angeles Won for 1912 Meeting.

Interested Visitors Many at the California Headquarters.

J. E. Burns of the Fresno delegation to the recent national G. A. R. encampment at Rochester, N. Y., writes to the California headquarters, stating that the California delegation were always crowded with visitors, who were interested in this state. He says the California drum corps was a big hit, and altogether sends an enthusiastic account of what the local people did there. The letter is as follows:
"Editor Republican: Knowing that the members of Atlanta Post, No. 22, G. A. R., will be anxious to know something of what the national encampment did last week at Rochester, N. Y., I thought the easiest way of reaching them was through your columns. Commander Parker, myself and wife left Fresno at 5 a. m., August 16, and joined the official train at Sacramento at 1:30 p. m. We had a fine trip via S. P. and U. P. to Omaha and the Illinois Central, where we remained overnight. We reached Chicago at 6 a. m. of the 20th, remaining there until 12:30, when we boarded our special cars attached to the Central train and reached Rochester at 8 a. m. of the 21st, three hours ahead of our schedule.

"We opened our California headquarters early the morning of the 21st and began our active campaign for the national encampment of 1912. Most of the night our corps waited for the 21st and 22nd in visiting the various headquarters of the different departments. Our drum corps was a great drawing card, being everywhere received with the greatest enthusiasm. I did not take any part in the visiting, but remained at our department headquarters receiving visitors and doing all I could to interest them in Los Angeles and securing their votes.

"From early morning to eleven at night our rooms were full and almost every night our corps waited for the 21st and 22nd in visiting the various headquarters of the different departments. Our drum corps was a great drawing card, being everywhere received with the greatest enthusiasm. I did not take any part in the visiting, but remained at our department headquarters receiving visitors and doing all I could to interest them in Los Angeles and securing their votes.

"Orders had been issued for all hands to stop playing 100 feet before reaching the reviewing stand and to resume playing at a point 100 feet past the stand. When our drum corps reached the 100-foot point they stopped playing. An instant later an order was given and our drum corps was directed to resume playing and did so, and were the only band to play while passing the reviewing stand.

"The rest of the day was strenuous for California headquarters. Until 12 midnight our rooms were full of visitors. The S. P. road had a representative distributing literature and was busy trying to get votes for Los Angeles.
"The business session of the encampment opened at 9 a. m. of the 24th. The day was taken up with reports of officers, and the election of officers. On the 24th afternoon, the report of the pension committee was presented, favoring the legislation recommended by the encampment of 1910.

"Ketchum of Indiana presented a minority report in favor of the Sullivan bill and the fight lasted over three hours. The result was a vote in favor of the Sherwood bill, so modified as to conform in the main to the Sullivan bill, was adopted.

"General Sherwood was present and made a speech pledging himself to support the resolution adopted by the encampment. While these two resolutions, the United States and England, are entering into a perpetual peace compact, that they should each of them be threatened with the greatest of economic revolutions. Witness the recent upheaval in Great Britain and the present condition in our country. What is to be the solution of these difficulties? I believe the only solution is in the 'Kingdom of Heaven.' Do unto others as you would have others do unto you."

"The result was the whole matter was indefinitely postponed.
"Then came the selection of the place for the national encampment of 1912. Our California delegation had been in their places from 9 a. m. and it was not 6 p. m. before we were all hungry but were ready to stay all night if necessary. Los Angeles was presented by Comrade H. Z. Osborne of Los Angeles and Denver was presented by Comrade Cook of Denver. A rising vote was called for and at the call for those who favored Los Angeles to rise the encampment rose almost en masse.
"A scattering few voted for Denver and our work was done. We had won out and California had the national encampment of 1912.
"Yours,
"J. E. BURNS."

DIRECT LEGISLATION IS ADVOCATED BY PASTOR FROM PULPIT

Rev. Boyd Commends State

Amendments as Power

for Good Here.

Also Advocates Suffrage

and Praises Taft's Peace

Compacts.

Continuing the initiative, referendum and recall, women's suffrage and the big peace pact of President Taft, Rev. Thomas Boyd, at the First Presbyterian church yesterday, declared that religion is needed in politics, and that change in the form of government is not so much needed as change in the characters of the men who are entrusted with power.
He preached from the parable of the woman who put leaven into three measures of meal and thereby leavened the whole. After an analysis of the parable he said:
"Many of us take a huge interest in the institutions of our country and are ready to lay our hands on this or that as needing reform. This parable should therefore haunt the ear, and always suggest the question: Is this or that institution radically bad? or, supposing good and wise men were working it, would it not serve a good purpose? What is wanted in the world is not new forms, but a new spirit in the present forms. The shape of the loaf is good. What is needed is the leaven—its quality.
"The coming of the Kingdom of Heaven does not consist in an entire alteration of human life, and human relations, as we know them. It does not alter empires into republics; it does not abolish work and give us all ease; it does not find fault with the universal frame of things, or refuse to fit itself to them, but it accepts things as it finds them, and leavens all that it touches. Christ did not attempt to change the form of government in his day, and he could have, seemingly, well employed himself in so doing, for every government on earth was corrupt through and through. How did he attempt to reform them? By reforming character.
"We have in our day a great political movement, known as 'Insurgency.' What is it? It is an attempt on the part of the Republican party to introduce into it that which will purify it. It is not a new party, we are told, but the old party trying to purify itself. Now, by way of illustration, put over against this Socialism, what does it demand? A complete revolution or subversion of the present order of government.
"Religion should be taken into politics, but not politics into religion. Now is the time when this can be done in California to a very great advantage. Several of the proposed amendments, which are to be voted on next month, have in them a moral element, notably the initiative, referendum and recall, and universal suffrage. The American people are slowly learning to trust themselves. They have learned that they cannot always trust the politician.
"As to woman suffrage, you will have noticed in the actor in this parable is a woman. In the previous parable it was a man—the woman in the house, the man in the field, and that is as I think it should ever be. Their realms do not trench on one another. My largest fear for woman suffrage is for woman herself. I think she has an inherent right to vote, and I think she has a moral right, and I believe she will use it well both politically and morally.
"We need the leaven of Christianity in social economics. The peace compact framed by President Taft marks a new era in the history of the race, and will forever give him the highest place among the statesmen of the world. But President Taft well realize that if these are to become effective they must have behind them the moral and spiritual influence of the church—hence his appeal to it. There is a strange irony in the present situation. While these two great nations, the United States and England, are entering into a perpetual peace compact, that they should each of them be threatened with the greatest of economic revolutions. Witness the recent upheaval in Great Britain and the present condition in our country. What is to be the solution of these difficulties? I believe the only solution is in the 'Kingdom of Heaven.' Do unto others as you would have others do unto you."

Wrestling Championship to Be Decided Today

RUSSIAN LION TO GO AFTER TITLE TODAY

Frank Gotch, Iowa Farmer, to Defend Championship at Chicago.

CHICAGO, Sept. 3.—Frank Gotch, the Iowa farmer, and George Hackenschmidt, the cultivated Russian student, tomorrow will determine who is the mightiest wrestler in the world. At 3 o'clock in the American League baseball park here these two premier grapplers will meet to settle the supremacy.

Gotch won their former match in Chicago April 3, 1910, but he did not pin the shoulders of the Russian Lion to the mat. For that reason he has never been given universal credit for his victory.

Tomorrow, however, both contestants declare the match will not end until one man has obtained two falls. It may be necessary to finish the contest under the glare of the giant arc lights that stud the roof of the grandstand.

SEAT SALE $70,000.

Gotch lost less than twenty-four hours' sleep, and the sport is coming in from all parts of the country. All hotels are crowded. Seat sales up to tonight approximated $70,000.

It is expected that at least 25,000 people will attend the contest and the gross receipts will be in the neighborhood of $100,000, the largest on record.

Although the turnstile at the park will not begin to revolve until 11 o'clock tomorrow, tonight ardent devotees of the sport had begun to gather outside the park early entrance to the field. Many were provided with tickets, but did not desire to be caught in the crush a few hours before the contestants enter the arena.

GOECH IS FAVORITE.

Gotch is in a wonderful condition. Circulated since he arrived here Friday have forced the betting odds on him up to 2 to 1. While he was still training in Humboldt, Iowa, he was but a 6 to 5 favorite.

Very little betting is being done, however. An explanation for this condition, veteran sports say, is that the element that habitually plunged on contests of all kinds has not forgotten the prize fight in Reno on July 4, 1910.

The so-called "talent" plunger and lost on that occasion and although this match in no way resembles that one, big bettors are still timid.

Gotch maintains he will win because he is the cleverer catch-as-catch-can wrestler, a quicker thinker and perhaps, as strong as his opponent. Hackenschmidt, on the other hand, has devoted the greater part of his training for this contest toward making himself faster.

Dr. B. F. Heller of Seattle, himself a scientific wrestler, and an old running-mate of Gotch, has been the Russian's chief trainer. Americus, another speedy grappler, has also been in the camp. Both assert Hackenschmidt has greatly increased his speed and can fathom all Gotch's tricks.

OH, YOU RENO BOYT.

Both men may be fit. To all outward appearances they are. But when this phase of the match is under discussion, old timers who have been at the ring side or mat side of every important event in the last decade again refer to the Jeffries-Johnson match, pointing out that the greatest experts thought the athlete farmer was in shape. Somehow the sporting element cannot forget that Reno battle.

Humboldt, Iowa, Gotch's home, virtually is a deserted village tonight. Scores of its citizens who have known Gotch since he was a boy, are here today and were the champion's guests at the Chicago-St. Louis National League ball game. Gotch's aged mother, his wife and members of her family also attended the game.

In the morning the champion took a brisk run to loosen his muscles. That was the only training he did. He spent the evening in his apartments reading the hundreds of letters and telegrams wishing him good luck and victory.

There were no signs of worry on the champion's face today. He seemed with smiles in responding to the cheers of the baseball throng, and laughed boyishly when the crowd shouted: "You'll trim Hack sure tomorrow, Frank."

RUSSIAN VERY NERVOUS.

This was a trying day for Hackenschmidt's trainers. The giant wrestler was as nervous as a spoiled child. Dr. Heller says this is a good sign because it shows the grappler is on edge. The Russian took a short run in the morning and slept a couple of hours during the afternoon and wrestled with Heller, Americus and John Koch before dinner. Hackenschmidt was to have umpired a baseball game today, but his trainers cancelled the engagement explaining he was too nervous to officiate.

Among Hackenschmidt's visitors today was Louis K. Pimperhohn, who used to train lions in a show in which Hackenschmidt did a strong man act.

How Gotch and "Hack" Looked in Ring 3 Years Ago

(By OSCAR MORRIS.)

Chicago, Sept. 3.—Wrestling fans throughout this country are recalling the good old days of Ivan Lewis, Jack Carkeek, Tom Connor and other stars of the mat in days gone by. The match of Youssif and Lewis, of Lewis and the Jap, of Connors and Burns and others are brought back to memory in connection with the international contest in Chicago on Labor Day—a contest that is being discussed throughout this land, in England, Germany and in other countries. It is the biggest wrestling match of the age and brings together Frank Gotch of Humboldt, Iowa, and George Hackenschmidt, the "Russian Lion."

Although wrestling goes back to the early day Greeks there have been few matches since the sport became popular that have proved of so much interest as the approaching contest between the champion and the "Russian Lion." One was their match three years ago and the other was that between Evan Lewis, "the Stranger," and Youssif "the Turk" in Chicago. Important matches took place in recent years between lesser lights, but it is the heavyweight who attracts the attention—the man with the muscle and the weight.

On April 3, 1908, three years ago, Hackenschmidt and Gotch met in a championship contest in Dexter Park, Chicago. This year the two big fellows clash in the White Sox ball park. Three years ago about 10,000 persons witnessed the contest but it is expected that about twice that number will gaze upon the two giants when they meet upon Labor Day. A fortune will be spent by speculators to see the match, as special trains from many sections of the country will carry fans to the Windy City for the express purpose of seeing the gladiators in action. Even from England there will be a small party to witness the contest. It is doubtful if a better today than he was three years ago and that time he was not good enough to beat the Iowa farmer.

Who will win? Many times daily in many cities and in many countries this question is asked when the subject of wrestling is taken up. At the very start Gotch is the favorite. And why shouldn't he be? Didn't he beat Hackenschmidt? Didn't he force the "Russian Lion" to cry "enough" after two hours of wrestling? Eugene Gotch holds the championship? Of course! That is why Gotch is expected to win. But followers of the "Russian Lion" have good arguments to bring forward in declaring that their man will win—that the championship will soon pass from the hands of a Yankee to a foreigner.

In this section of the country where Gotch is best known, he is looked upon as a sure winner, and those with the champion have a right to back him. It is a cliché that Hackenschmidt is not a bit better today than he was three years ago and that time he was not good enough to beat the Iowa farmer.

There is no good reason why the conditions should be changed at this time. If Gotch has gone back—which is not probable—then the same should hold good for Hackenschmidt. If the "Russian Lion" has improved there is every reason to believe that Gotch too, has improved. Take the measurement of the two big fellows, compare their past performance and then look back and analyze their meeting of three years ago—that meeting when Gotch was declared victor after two hours of wrestling, scratching, fighting, clawing, hugging and clinching—that meeting at which 10,000 persons cheered and applauded and finally saw Referee "Ed" Smith hold up Gotch's hand in token of victory. Just study that contest of three years ago and one is bound to give Gotch the shade before he steps through the ropes on the afternoon of Sept. 4, and endeavors to retain the championship.

In that match three years ago, the men were on their feet the entire two hours, except fifteen minutes. During the latter period Hackenschmidt was on his stomach and after the match had progressed two hours and two minutes, Hackenschmidt gave up and Gotch was declared the victor. That's how the match ended.

On Labor Day afternoon Gotch is looked upon to repeat. He says he will. Hackenschmidt declares he will win. The real wrestling fan—the fan with the sporting blood, says: "May the best man win."

NEW RACE COURSE WILL OPEN ON SEPT. 11

Thirty-Six Day Meeting to Bring Out 600 Horses at Lake City.

(By JAMES H. CASSELL.)

SPOKANE, Wash., Sept. 3.—With the sound of starter Dick Dwyer's bugle only nine days away, over 400 horses are already in daily training for the new Lake City course, which opens on thirty-six-day meeting September 11th and will have for one week of the season during six days racing at the Interstate Fair, runs continuously thirty-six days until October 25th.

This coming Saturday, 150 or 200 more horses will come from there in three special trains arranged to leave Butte Sunday morning. From California, the coast, and British Columbia, during the week, will come special cars nearly every day. Expectations of 600 horses for the new track will be more than fulfilled.

Work on the new $75,000 course was practically completed a week ago. The new stand, which has a seating capacity of 5000, is entirely completed, painted green and white and now bears aloft the flagging pennant of the Coeur d'Alene Fair & Racing Association in green and white, the association colors. The track has been worked over nearly a month by the several hundred horses now here and is in grand condition. All turfmen insist it is going to set some new coast records. Early workouts leave no doubt but that it will be fast.

PHILADELPHIA WILL REPEAT, OPINES CUB LEADER

Frank Chance Says Chicago and Athletics Are Due to Meet Again.

Frank ("Husk") Chance, the peerless leader of the Chicago Cubs, picks the Athletics to win the American League pennant in a walk, and also thinks that the same clubs which met in the world's series in 1910 will race each other in 1911.

Chance is not quite so sure that the Cubs will repeat, but he gave a mighty interesting line of dope on the two big league races recently.

"I think the Athletics will land the flag, and several games to spare," says the famous leader of the Cubs. "The Tigers have a good ball club, but I don't think the Athletics have been going nearly as well as they will before the close of the season."

"Some people argue that the schedule is against the Athletics, but I don't think so. Detroit and Chicago are the only clubs which can trouble the Blackens on their next trip. Cleveland went well for a time, but I don't think they are capable of troubling the Athletics."

"Coombs could help the club a whole lot if he was going better, but at that Jack is registering a bunch of wins by reason of the hitting behind him. Eddie Plink is always a good steady pitcher, while Bender has been carefully nursed. The big Indian is a marvel, and he is due to come through with a long winning streak. I never saw him fall in this way, and any time Connie pitches Bender in an important game the opposing team may just as well put their bats in the bat bag."

"Detroit has a rattling good ball club but its pitchers are not very strong, and Jennings depends chiefly on Cobb. Cobb cannot do it all. No ball player in the world can beat a team single-handed, except on rare occasions, and the wonderful outfielder cannot go through with it this season."

"Do you know that that race is not nearly as good as the National race?" continued the Cub pilot. "The clubs are not playing the same ball this season. It is a fortunate thing for the league that the Athletics got off to a bad start. Otherwise it would be a walk-over."

Of course the peerless leader picks the Cubs to win the National league flag—and has the Phillies doped for the

Tigers Devour Clovis; Bittels Rap McAfees

COSTLY ERRORS IN BICYCLE CHAMPION WINS NATIONAL TROPHY

Fourth Defeat Clovis Boys

Checked by the steady heaving of the Tuffs, the gay young Clovis boys lurched back a notch in the City League race at Recreation Park yesterday. The final count was 10 to 2, proving that Tuffs had more than his shoes and glove. It was a pitchers' battle until the last of the fourth, when costly errors behind Merriman presented the game to the Tigers.

In the second round of the afternoon, Bill Bittels came from behind with a rush in the last inning and nosed out the McAfees, 6 to 5. One of the redeeming features was a home run drive over the left field signboards by Reg Danner in the third inning with Napier on the bench, ending the game.

The four-cushion slum was made off the delivery of Ben Hill and to rub it in deeply, Danner used Hill's favorite bat.

Just before the sturdy first sacker lifted the ball over the fence, Charno used Hill's club and poked a long single over second base. After Danner had tried to break up the game, Pitcher Hill instructed Manager Budge to hide that home-run bat under the bench.

The Coal and Not the Coal

If you are using coal that burns freely and gives a good warm fire, cooks your meals without constantly having to replenish the fire, you are using good coal. If, on the other hand, your fire is hot in spots, or for a short time, and then "drops out," the coal is low in heat efficiency. If your coal contains sulphur, or slate, you are using poor coal, so to be on the safe side, order either Castle Gate, Wellington, or Rock Springs, these are pure coals.

PORTLANDERS COME FROM BEHIND AND BEAT OAKS

Art Krueger and Buddy Ryan Help With Big Sticks in First.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 3.—Portland took both games from Oakland today. After allowing Portland to score hits in the first two innings, Portland bunched a double and a single in the fourth inning which gave them enough runs to win, 2 to 1. Koesterer was wild and although he allowed but five safeties while he was on the mound he had three wild pitches and was benched in the eighth with a mound on second and none out.

Portland practically duplicated their performance in the afternoon in bunching hits in the fourth and eighth innings and won, 3 to 1. Seaton allowed but four hits and the Oakland batters were never dangerous after the third. Krueger hit two home runs, a feature of both games. He secured two doubles and two singles in eight times at bat. The scores:

How the Election of a Pontiff to the Papal Throne Is Accomplished by the College of Cardinals

By GEORGE WAUGH ARNOLD.

WHEN the illness of a pope of Rome becomes so serious that his death is regarded as imminent all the civilized world takes a keen interest in the manner of the election for his successor.

The pope is elected for life—once a pope a pope till death—and even when dead the cardinals do not wield his power. The cardinals are to the church what the senate of old Rome was to the people, and what the senate of this country is to the United States. The administration of the church during the interregnum belongs to the cardinals. The dean of the sacred college is their president. They can undertake no important change in the affairs of the church. The duty that devolves upon them is to elect the next successor to St. Peter.

Every Cardinal in World Is Called.

The dean of the sacred college at the pope's death summons every cardinal throughout the world to take part in the election.

In the first session of the conclave each of the cardinals takes a solemn oath on his gospels to observe the canons that refer to the election in the conclave. The bulls of the nine popes who legislated on the mode of procedure in the election of the pope by ballot in the conclave are read aloud to them. The shepherd's ring, being part of the insignia of the holy father, is now unscrewed by the master of ceremonies, and the first session of the conclave comes to a close.

On the second day the various officers of the pontifical states come to pay their respects to the cardinals, and the next three days are spent in elections to the different offices that are to be filled in the conclave.

Busy First Five Days.

On the sixth day the calls that each cardinal is to occupy are allotted to him, where both the cardinal and his secretary are to dwell during the whole time of the conclave.

The Vatican contains 1,100 rooms, and there is a very spacious hall set apart and fitted up for the special purpose of the election.

Each cardinal is allowed two rooms, called cells, one for himself and one for his secretary.

When the cardinals assemble in the chapel the bulls are once again read, and again they take the oath to conscientiously observe the canons regulating the election. An address is delivered by the cardinal dean as an exhortation to "do their duty conscientiously."

Shut Out From All the World.

Then at the stroke of midnight the master of ceremonies rings a silver bell, and all who are not of the conclave retire. The doors are finally and solemnly closed, and no one is allowed to pass in or out except the cardinals who, perchance, may be late in coming from foreign countries. Each cardinal is allowed to have two members of his household in personal attendance upon him. These are called conclavists. A number of other attendants are also allowed inside the conclave—viz., a carpenier, a mason, a sacristan, a friar or monk to hear confessions, a number of barbers, eight or ten porters and several other domestics to do common service to the whole body of cardinals.

This word "conclave" comes from the fact of closing the door with a key. "Clavis" in Latin means a key. The word conclave refers to the enclosure as well as to the body of cardinals in session. All secular influence ceases for good, so as to leave the cardinals untrammelled in their work of choosing a successor to the papal throne.

The cells in which the cardinals dwell during elections are twenty feet square and twenty feet high.

Door Locked on Both Sides.

There is only one door to the conclave, and this is locked with a double key, one on the outside and one on the inside. The governor, who is a cardinal appointed by the sacred college, holds one key on the inside, and the marshal, who is a lay official, on the outside, is the custodian of the other key.

There are four apertures in the walls, called gates, through which all meals are passed and anything else that is absolutely required. All this is to avoid any communication with the outer world and to prevent fraud or political influence being used on the cardinals in the casting of their votes. The outside walls are also locked, and the cardinal camerlingo keeps these keys.

Papal troops are drawn up in attendance and are in charge of one of the princes of the house of Chigi, who also takes charge of some of the outer keys and guards the conclave from violence.

The most extraordinary precautions are taken to shut out intrigues and political influence.

Any Catholic Eligible.

Any man in the Catholic church is eligible to the office of pope, be he cardinal or bishop, priest or layman, married or single. The cardinals are free in this matter, but from the time of Urban VI the custom has prevailed of electing a cardinal, and an Italian cardinal at that.

In the United States the law obtains that he who is elected to the presidency must be born in the states, but the Catholic church is still more democratic, for any man who is a Catholic is eligible to the papacy. Only a pagan, a heretic or an excommunicated person is excluded from election. Should a married man be elected he would have to separate, like Peter of old, from his wife and receive holy orders and episcopal consecration at the hands of the bishop of Ostia.

Votes Cast Twice Each Day.

The voting in the conclave takes place in the chapel twice a day, morning and evening. Each cardinal has a desk decorated with his coat of arms assigned to him. Immediately before the election begins an Augustinian monk celebrates mass. When the mass is concluded all the attendants withdraw, leaving the cardinals severely alone. They then prepare to cast their first ballot. Two-thirds of the votes must be given by ballot to validly elect. When the ballots are counted and no one has received a two-thirds vote the voting papers are taken to a fireplace and burned.

Crowds Watch Smoke of Ballots.

The smoke ascending through a certain chimney is a sign to an immense concourse of people assembled outside for news of the election and to obtain the new holy father's blessing that the cardinals have not yet decided on any one for pope. When they see the smoke they return to their homes, to come again in the evening or the morning, as the case may be. Then the cardinals retire to their apartments to await the next ballot. This is repeated each day till a pope is elected.

When two-thirds of the ballots are given to any one person he is declared pope and the conclave is over. The youngest cardinal then rings a bell and calls all the cardinals around the newly elected pope.

Elected One May Refuse.

The cardinal dean asks him if he accepts the canonical election to the supreme pontificate. If he says he accepts, forthwith he becomes pope, head of the church, bishop of Rome, father of Christendom, vicar of Christ and sovereign pontiff.

Should he refuse, the chair is still vacant and another election is in order. Should he hesitate he is asked three times. On his acceptance the cardinal dean genuflects before him, asking him by what name he shall be known to Christendom in the future, and by this name he is known ever after.

ing and evening. Each cardinal has a desk decorated with his coat of arms assigned to him. Immediately before the election begins an Augustinian monk celebrates mass. When the mass is concluded all the attendants withdraw, leaving the cardinals severely alone. They then prepare to cast their first ballot. Two-thirds of the votes must be given by ballot to validly elect. When the ballots are counted and no one has received a two-thirds vote the voting papers are taken to a fireplace and burned.

NO WOMAN CAN MARRY COLONEL GREEN. WHEN TIME COMES HE'LL DO THE MARRYING

COLONEL GREEN'S MOTHER, BROTHER-IN-LAW AND SISTER. COLONEL E. H. R. GREEN.

WILL Society, with a capital S, please simmer down over the Astor-Ford and Geraghty-French affairs and listen to the sayings of Colonel Edward Howland Robinson, Green of Texas, the millionaire son of the multi-millionaire widow, Mrs. Hetty Green, in reference to marriage?

He remarks in really cryptic utterance, "When I marry I'll marry a woman, not a clothesline."

The colonel, who is forty-three years old, big and wholesome, but bothered somewhat by an artificial leg, says that he will marry soon, just as soon, in fact, as his promise to his mother not to marry for twenty years wears out.

That will be the coming November, and the publishing of that interesting fact has brought him nearly 2,000 letters, some with photographs, but all soulfully proposing the question.

This embarrasses the colonel, for his ideal is business, and he is certainly busy enough in managing his own and his mother's affairs.

Here is a sample letter:

Dear Colonel—Don't think me a little beggar. I feel sure if you would have a talk with me you would believe me to be worthy of becoming your wife. I will dine at the Waldorf on Saturday evening at 7:30. I am very much like the enclosed photograph. I shall wear the same black dress and one red rose. I shall dine in the big dining room on the fifth avenue side. After having had a peep at me I am sure you will like me, because I am not a giddy girl. I am very serious, though this letter may seem piddy to you. Don't, please, be afraid to approach me if you like me. I hope we'll get to be fast friends. Lovingly,

DAISY.

"Well," said Colonel Green to some sympathetic friends, "I went down to the dining room, just being curious. She was there, and with the red rose. Yes, a veritable beauty she was. But she didn't see me. No, siree! Believe me, I'm a sensible man."

And here is another, from Alabama:

My Dearest Colonel Green—Having read much about you in the Birmingham paper, I judge you are awfully lonely, living without a wife. I, too, am very lonely and believe we could make each other happy. Believe me, Mr. Green, I am sincere. You are the only man on this great earth that I should be content to call "hubby." If you are desirous of a quiet, kind and affectionate and also lovable girl for a wife write quick to NORA.

"But," said the colonel, "I'm primitive man enough to go out and look for the girl I want to marry. When I find her I'll make good honest love to her, and if she'll have me I'll be the traditional happiest man in the whole world."

"I shall not answer any of these too willing damsels who are hurling love missives, or, I might say, missives, at me, so I hope they will save themselves any future expense in stationery and postage."

"As the Irishman said when he was called to go to work, 'When I get ready I'll take my pick.'"

Colonel Green has relinquished daily work on his business interests in Texas to aid his mother in the management of her properties, on which more than $1,000,000 a year comes in for reinvestment.

He plans to start in New York a trust company as a clearing house for the interests of the great fortune. It will not be a competitor with established companies for New York business.

"My family hopes to be of real benefit to the whole country," says Colonel Green. "Actual experience has shown me that the best use for inherited wealth is that which will create the greatest number of life jobs rather than satisfy the hunger of a day."

"When he referred to his family Green meant only his mother, his sister, Mrs. Matthew Astor Wilks, formerly Sylvia Green, and himself."

"The financial affairs in which our family is interested here and all over the country will be conducted from a main headquarters in New York."

"The establishment of this company will have no effect on our present connections with bankers anywhere, but it will be the medium through which we will handle our business outside New York. In fact, it will be a center in the east where we will concentrate our western and southwestern interests."

The suggestion was made that we take over one of the old trust companies, but I favored starting with a clean slate, with no taint of some one else's past. That course practically has been decided on."

Colonel Green added that he is assisting his mother in the management of all the family properties, including real estate in Chicago, St. Louis, San Francisco, Boston and Toledo; paper mills in Bellevue Falls, Vt.; cotton mills in New Bedford, Mass.; gold mines in California; stocks and bonds in many important railroads of the country and the Texas properties.

Colonel Green's mother is now in her seventy-sixth year. His father died in New York in 1892.

Mrs. Green's wealth is estimated at upward of $70,000,000. Colonel Green says that he intends to make this fortune a positive source of good for the whole country. He does not believe in endowing charities or bestowing millions upon various philanthropies. "Inherited wealth," says Colonel Green, "is put to its best use when it creates the greatest possible number of life jobs rather than when it satisfies the hunger of a day."

MINERS UNITE TO STOP THE FRIGHTFUL LIFE LOSS THAT IS DECIMATING THEIR RANKS

UNDER the genial supervision of President Taft 30,000 miners of all grades up to superintendent will meet at Pittsburgh on Oct. 26 and 27 and watch with the keenness of men whose working life is an hourly risk the exhibit

RESUSCITATING OVERCOME MINERS.

Interior: Governor Tener of Pennsylvania and Mr. Joseph A. Holmes, director of the bureau of mines, will be in the president's party.

On Oct. 27 there will be a minute mine explosion in a temporary steel gallery, an exhibition of rescue work by helmeted miners and a great parade of the miners. The president will make an address.

The first day, Oct. 26, will be devoted to the interests of mine operators and owners and superintendents of the national mine safety demonstration. There has been entirely too great a loss of life in mining in America. The losses in all the mines of the rest of the world since history began will not total up as much as the sum of life lost in our mining horrors of the last fifty years.

Now the Federal Bureau of Mines, the American Red Cross, the Pittsburgh Coal Operators' association and the United Mine Workers of America have joined hands to stop the needless waste of life.

The general arrangements for the demonstration are under the care of St. M. Wilson, engineer in charge of the bureau of mines. Walter L. Fisher, secretary of the department of the interior, and engineers of mines. In the steel experimental gallery there will be explosions of coal dust and tests of safety lamps in gas. The dangers of electric sparks will also be shown.

In the afternoon the operators, engineers and superintendents will witness an actual mine explosion in the experimental mine of the bureau at Bruceton, Pa., twelve miles from Pittsburgh. Coal dust will be allowed to accumulate in the mine; and black powder, the use of which is denounced by the bureau in mines where there are dangerous conditions, will be used. In other words, the bureau's experts will carry out in this mine all the bad practices which they believe lead to the fatal explosions.

SECRET INSTRUCTIONS FOR BATTLESHIP GAME

Capacity of Naval Captains to Be Tested By the Authorities.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—For the great war game now in progress of the Chesapeake capes, Rear Admiral Hugo Osterhaus, commander in chief of the Atlantic fleet, holds secret instructions and not a captain of a ship knows what he may be called upon to do in the target practice from hour to hour. The scheme is to spring problems upon commanding officers and their crews unawares, just as they would be sprung in time of war.

This, it is believed, will promote the efficiency of the navy personnel and demonstrate those who can be counted upon to meet trying conditions without warning—a thing that decides battles.

The success of the dreadnought Delaware in its long range firing at the old battleship San Marcos in Tangier Sound, a few days ago, proves again to naval men here that the combat of the future will be begun when the opposing forces look to each other like specks on the horizon. The Delaware made a number of hits, 16,000 yards, or more than nine miles. Of course she missed many times but the fact that the gunners were able to shatter the old hulk at that great distance convinced the naval officers that battles will begin at that or a greater distance.

Homesteader Alleges the American Oilfields Took His Land.

BAKERSFIELD, Sept. 3.—R. L. Snapp, by his attorneys, Neil and Ingalls, has sued the American Oilfields Company in quiet title to the southwest quarter of section 34, 28-21, Snapp avers he homesteaded the land in April 1910. The American Oilfields moved on the land on August 25th last.

Attorney Henry A. Sch for the Association of Oil Companies has filed a demurrer to the suit brought by the British American Oil Company against the Pioneer Midway Oil Company and others, claiming there is a misjoinder of parties defendant in that the defendants are not united in interest; also that the complaint does not state facts constituting a cause of action.

Denying fraud or conspiracy, as charged by Walter J. Valentine, a British subject of Bedford, England, Attorney Henry A. Sch for the British American Oil Company, has answered Valentine's suit to have him removed to Iowa, 19, 20, 21 and 22 in section 9, 29-27. Valentine charges that he gave Robinson the power of attorney and he is alleged to have repudiated Valentine's confidence by dealing the lots to his wife, Valentine claims the four lots are worth $5,000 to $7,500. They contain eighty-four acres.

GUARANTY TO BUILD LONG TELEPHONE LINE

Call for Bids for Wire Carrier to Precede Pipe Line.

BAKERSFIELD, Sept. 3.—The Guaranty Pipe Line Company is calling for bids for the construction of seventy miles of telephone line to the Midway oil fields in Ventura. The pipe line companies often build telephone lines after the pipe line is constructed, but the advantage of building the telephone line first is apparent, as it keeps the field forces in close touch with headquarters, and can be used for the secure supplies without delay and without danger of tying up the operations of construction gangs.

This work, roughly estimated, will cost about $15,000. The construction men estimate the rights of way, grade stakes setting, road clearing to be worth $10,000 a mile, which would make the Guaranty Pipe Line Company's work up to date worth about $70,000. It has, however, by good management, got it down to very much less than this.

DEWEILER CASE NOT DISMISSED

Judge Lawlor Points Out
Absurdity of Refugee's Claims.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 3.—Superior Judge William L. Lawlor yesterday refused to dismiss the long-standing bribery indictment against A. K. Deweller, president of the Home Telephone Company, and set the case for trial on the 30th of this month. In doing so he declared that the indictments against Deweller, Calhoun, Thompson, Mullally, Tracy L. Ford and William M. Abbott, which were recently dismissed under the compulsion of a writ of mandamus from the Appellate Court, offered no precedent in this case.

The argument to dismiss the indictment was made on the same grounds as those which have many times been argued before Judge Lawlor in the so-called graft cases, namely, that every defendant is entitled under the law to a speedy trial. Lawlor replied that "slavish observance of the law designed to preserve personal liberty sometimes brings tragedy, and that Deweller, he said, had remained in hiding for three years after the return of the indictment in March, 1907, and returned only after James Gallagher, an indispensable witness, had absconded himself from the state.

"His voluntary appearance," declared the court, "was made after the intervention of circumstances which apparently contrived to render the law impotent; and after a change of administration had taken place in the district attorney's office."

The indictment against the Home Telephone Company was returned by the Telephone office in the city of Fresno about the same time as those against the officers of the United Railroads.

REEDLEY HOTEL TO BE MINUS THE BAR

REEDLEY, Sept. 3.—The Grand hotel of this city was sold a few days ago to W. J. Wigley of Portland, Ore., and from this time is to be run on temperance lines, according to the announcement of the new management.

The bar and pool and billiard tables are to be taken out at once. Wigley will repair the building thoroughly and part the vacant ground to the south of the structure. It is expected it will be made a very attractive, modern hotel. Immediately after the purchase, the hotel building was leased to Robert Clarke of Portland, who is to furnish the building throughout, and will be the active manager.

BIG MIDWAY PREMIER DOING 4,000 BARRELS

That and Mammoth Gusher
Opened After Long
Shut Down.

BAKERSFIELD, Sept. 3.—The Midway Premier gusher, which has been shut off since last November, has been opened up again and is flowing at the rate of 4,000 barrels daily. Oil was shot over the top of the derrick and a mass of sand and conglomerate shells and other matter was thrown out. The constant wear on the crown block tore away the top part of the derrick before the flow had continued very long. It is stated the flow increased rapidly and yesterday was close to 4,000 barrels a day. The well was sanded up but the demand for more oil led to the well being put on production again. The tools were run down the hole with the grouting blowout which has been closed down because of lost tools in the hole, was opened up and is flowing at a 4,000 barrel rate.

The Kallispell Midway's well No. 2 is doing 3,500 barrels a day.

BRITISH PLEASED WITH FIELDS HERE

BAKERSFIELD, Sept. 3.—After a personal investigation of the Kern river properties of the Kern River Oilfields, Limited, made in behalf of the minority stockholders in England, Messrs. Tugg and Haffensline say they will report finding conditions satisfactory.

"They were shown over the local properties by W. S. Boggs, the general manager, and the latter stated to be in good shape and approved the methods pursued by Boggs."

While in California, they are studying oil marketing conditions as well as matters that pertain to the Kern River Oilfields. They were taken to the Kern River oil fields, the West Side Oil fields and are now in San Francisco preparing to return to London.

NEW DISCOVERIES ON ARCTIC SHORE

Exploration Increasingly Difficult, Declares Scientist.

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—All the present day Arctic maps will have to be remodeled as a result of the work of Anderson-Steffansson expedition of the American Museum of Natural History. The explorers, who will return to civilization next year after four years of exploration on the Alaskan coast, give some details of their findings in a series of letters just received by the museum authorities.

They are bringing back complete surveys of Langton Bay, Horton river and several other uncharted regions.

The Richardson river was discovered by Dr. Richardson early in the nineteenth century, and for a brief period a few miles of it appeared on the maps and charts published about the middle of the last century. But there were no further discoveries of it, and it cannot now be found on any of the modern maps of exploration.

The report tells of the discovery of an unknown, unnamed river, about thirty miles long and very broad, emptying into Longton bay. It also refers to the River La Ronciere, which is drawn in a free hand fashion, with many flourishes on all modern maps rising near Bear Lake and flowing northward. Steffansson has now shown this stream to be non-existent.

Of 50 Indians seen by his party in the course of 1910, only one, Siyemson says, has seen a white man. Siyemson tribes living near Coronadon Gulf have never been visited by a white man.

Steffansson declares that the difficulties of exploration are becoming more and more serious, because of the rapid disappearance of the Eskimo and the inability of the country to support the expeditions. It seems likely that ten years from now no traveler will be able to visit these regions, the explorer said.

PROPOSE IRRIGATION OF COALINGA LANDS

Reedley Chamber to Ask Government to Save
Kings Waters.

With renewed activity on the part of the Reedley and the Coalinga Chambers of Commerce, the old project of the irrigation of the immense section of the San Joaquin Valley adjoining the Coalinga oil fields and extending to Tulare Lake and the irrigated lands about Lemoore, are being revived.

The matter will come before the Reedley Chamber of Commerce tomorrow in the form of a proposal to petition the government to conserve the waters of the Kings River, vast quantities of which go to waste every year during the flood water season.

The project as it has been planned out calls for an immense reservoir north of Reedley, where surplus waters can be impounded. The matter was once carried to the point where the preliminary surveys were completed, but was later dropped, and nothing has been done with it of late.

The territory which is proposed to irrigate by this means is immense, and is believed to be exceedingly fine land, except for the absence of adequate moisture.

The Reedley Chamber of Commerce will also take up the question of securing a grant survey for the city, and of a proper showing at the Fresno county fair this year. Reedley proposes to go out after the big prizes this season.

ORGANIZED LABOR WILL CELEBRATE ANNUAL HOLIDAY IN FRESNO TODAY

Hanford, Coalinga, Dinuba and Porterville Will Join Hands With Local Men; Parade of 2000 Members to Show Strength of Unions.

Organized labor of Fresno, Hanford, Coalinga, Dinuba and Porterville will show its strength here today at the annual Labor Day celebration. It will be a general holiday for the unions of these valley towns and in order to observe the day in true union style, a monster parade, in which over 2,000 men will participate, is to be the feature. The parade will formally open the day's program and following it there will be a burlesque, baseball game, athletic events, balloon ascension, dancing and skating at Recreation Park.

Union men and their families and friends have been looking forward with intense interest to today's celebration and it is believed the showing made by the "closed shop" advocates will be the largest in history. The parade will start from K and Fresno streets at 8:30 o'clock this morning and the marchers will cover the principal downtown streets. All details have been completed and there remains nothing to be done but to line up the men.

The formation of the first and second divisions will be:

FIRST DIVISION.
Police escort.
Mayor and city officials in auto.
Grand Marshal and aides.
Band.
Building Trades Council.
Carpenters' Union 701.
Shinglers' Union.
Electrical Workers No. 526.
Plumbers.
Sheet Metal Workers.
Plasterers.
Brick Layers.
Rail Carriers.
Millmen.
Cement Workers.
Painters.
SECOND DIVISION.
Fresno Labor News Float.
Cooks and Waiters.
Retail Clerks.
Laundry Workers.
Theatrical Stage Employees, in autos.
Brewery Workers.
Bartenders.
Typographical Union.
Pressmen.
Electrical Workers No. 169.
Boot and Shoe Workers.
Tailors' Union.
Chair Makers.
Migratory League.
VICKERS GRAND MARSHAL.
T. C. Vickers, chairman of the Labor Day committee and business agent of the Building Trades Council, will be grand marshal. His aides are Daniel Smith, a member of the Painters' Union, and C. H. Hauser, of the Retail Clerks. The marshal for the Federated Trades is John Brooks and the leader of the Building Trades' delegation is Louis Babcock, president of that body. Each union in the line of march will have a marshal. The men will walk four abreast. The Theatrical Stage Employees and Machinists will ride in autos. Mayor Rowell and other city officials will be in machines.

TWO BANDS IN PARADE.
Chief of Police Jones and a squad of patrolmen will lead the procession. Two bands will be in line, one leading the first division and one at the head of the second division. After the parade the scene will be shifted to Recreation Park where the remainder of the day's program will be carried out. W. D. McDowell will be in charge of the athletic events for which local merchants have donated $250 in commercial prizes. One of the principal features will be a baby show in which over 100 youngsters will be placed on exhibition by proud parents in the competition for substantial trophies.

At 2:30 o'clock, the baseball game will begin with the Tigers and Bittels of the City League furnishing the excitement. Both teams have imported fast players in order to make the diamond battle worth witnessing. The game will close with the league series for the championship of the city. Nine innings will be played, although all other City League games are only seven innings. A record crowd is expected. Dancing in the pavilion and skating at the rink are on the afternoon program. Besides these there will be the usual attractions, such as the merry-go-round, kiosk, whiff, etc.

GRAND BALL AT NIGHT.
In the evening, the annual Labor Day ball will be held. J. H. Ender, secretary of the general committee in charge of the celebration, will be floor manager. An orchestra of five pieces will furnish the music. A small admission will be charged to the park and baseball game. This morning at 8 o'clock, 500 pounds of young beef will be taken to the park. This meat will be prepared under the direction of Frank Gonzales, one of the best known chefs in the state.

The barbecue at the noon hour will be the big feature of the entire day and it is predicted that 5,000 people will be fed. The committee has purchased enough beef to feed 8,000 and if many people come from Hanford, Coalinga, Porterville and Dinuba it is believed the attendance will be swelled to the capacity number.

Yesterday the committee visited Recreation Park and looked after all the preliminary details in preparation for the biggest Labor Day demonstration in the history of the valley. The prediction for today is moderate temperature and good weather will insure a successful day.

FORMATION OF PARADE.
The first division will rest on the north side of Fresno street and east of K. The second division will be formed on the east side of K street and north of Fresno. It is hoped to have all the marchers in line and the

SMALLER CROWD THAN USUAL HEARS CONCERT

Miss Hohmann Is Given
Tremendous Ovation
at Park.

Attendance at the band concert in the courthouse park last night was not as large as on previous nights, although an exceptionally clever and pleasing concert was given under the direction of Conductor J. W. Tilton. The vocal selection, "Forgotten," by Miss Maude Hohmann, received the most applause of any number on the program while "The Hunting Scene" received the next best.

Miss Hohmann was given a tremendous ovation when she appeared upon the land platform. The number was by request. Many of the selections rendered last night were composed by Fresno musicians. The first number on the program was a march, "The Owl," which was composed by Grant Falkenstein. Another one of Falkenstein's pieces was the caprice "Raymond," by Ralston and "Vivette," by Tilton, were both well received.

As a whole, the concert last night contained numbers that pleased every one and none found fault with Conductor Tilton's selection of the pieces.

ENTERTAIN LARGE CROWD IN COUNTRY

Miss Victoria Enshler and Mrs. C. Enshler entertained about sixty-five guests at a very enjoyable affair Saturday night. The guests went out from Fresno in a hay wagon, their arrival at the home of the hostesses, four and a half miles from the city, was announced by a bugle call. Games were played, during which candy and cool drinks were served, and at 10:30 the party sat down to a dainty supper, at which Aram Chanesian acted as toastmaster. Following supper, a program was rendered, which included a piano solo by Miss Lillian Husman, and vocal solos by Miss Mary Sweet, Dove Markarian and V. M. G. Holakkin. The last song was in German, and made a great hit. Miss P. Volgian gave a reading, and Aram Enshler contributed a violin selection. The program closed with a solo by H. Enshler, brother of the hostess. Ice cream and cake were served later and a bugle call announced the departure of the guests for home.

procession moving at 9:30 o'clock. The line of march, as prepared by Chairman John Gorrell of the parade committee, follows: West on Fresno street to I, south on I to Tulare, east on Tulare to J, north on J to Fresno, east on Fresno to K, south on K to Tulare, counter-march on K to Fresno street, where parade will be dismissed. Grand Marshal Vickers will review the union men at the fountain entrance to the courthouse park. The men will march four abreast.

BISHOP SANFORD IN PULPIT AT ST. JAMES

Preaches Here Next Sunday Then Leaves for Stay in the East.

Bishop Sanford yesterday morning filled the pulpit at St. James Episcopal church and rendered an interesting sermon on "Obligations of the Sacraments." His appearance was greeted by a large congregation, and splendid choir work was much enjoyed.

Next Sunday afternoon, Bishop Sanford will occupy the pulpit at Clovis in the Episcopal church hall. The services will start at 3:30. In the morning on the same day, Bishop Sanford will preach in the local church. This will be his last sermon in Fresno for about a month. On Tuesday, Bishop Sanford will leave Fresno for the East on business matters in connection with the missionary work of the diocese in the San Joaquin valley. Bishop Sanford will return to Fresno about the first of October.

During his absence, the pulpit at St. James will be filled by visiting clergymen from other parts of the state.

Bishop Sanford has appointed Rev. W. M. Evans as rector at the Reedy church. Rev. Evans recently came to this country from England and goes to Reedyville with very high recommendations as a minister of the gospel. Mrs. Evans is in England, but will join her husband in the course of two months. It was announced yesterday that all the vestrymen of St. James Episcopal church are in Fresno by Wednesday or Thursday of this week, a meeting will be called in order to take some definite action on the resignation of Rev. Harvey Hanson, which is now in the hands of the vestrymen. Rev. Hanson has been rector here for a number of years.

NOTICE.
All members of the Retail Clerks' Union are requested to be in the parade Monday, Labor Day. Will meet at the corner of H and Inyo streets at 9 a. m.

Myopia
Is a common occurrence among school children. Myopia means "near-sightedness" and is characterized by the child holding his school books close to his eyes, or peering at objects—straining his eyes to see. Sometimes headaches or nervousness result. Let 1911 mark the time when you aided your child to see without effort, by having us prescribe glasses. It means much for the future of the child.

MAN CARRIED OVER HEADGATE AND DROWNED

Arnel Lampe, a Recent Arrival, Loses Life in Mill Creek.

Water to Be Shut Off to Help Search for the Body.

While swimming in Mill Creek above the large headgate near Temperance Colony yesterday noon, Arnel Lampe, who recently came to Fresno from Nebraska, went over the headgate and was drowned. Sheriff McSwain and a party of men dragged the creek below the headgate all yesterday afternoon but were unable to find the body. Arrangements have been made to have the water turned off in the irrigating ditch and the search for the body will be resumed at dusk. Lampe was a good swimmer and it is not thought likely that he would have drowned unless he met with some accident while in the water. Yesterday, he and a youth named Kruse went in swimming. Kruse advised Lampe not to go in above the headgate as it was dangerous, but Lampe did not heed the warning.

Kruse went in bathing several feet below the headgate. Looking up stream, he saw Lampe in the middle of the stream just coming over the headgate. The force of the water coming over the gate forced Lampe under but he came to the surface twice. When he did not reappear Kruse hurriedly informed a neighbor and a search was started for Lampe. The sheriff was then notified.

It is not known whether Lampe attempted to swim over the headgate or whether he was caught in the current and carried over. Lampe was a good swimmer and it is presumed that in going over the headgate he struck his head against one of the braces and was rendered unconscious.

The water immediately under the headgate is very deep and is swift. The searching party was unable to drag the creek at this spot. An attempt was made yesterday to reach Lodi, the Fresno Canal and Irrigation Company, but the sheriff was unable to get in communication with them until late last night. The water which flows through the creek will be shut off above Centerville and it is presumed that it will be an easy matter to find the body tomorrow. Lampe came to Fresno recently from Nebraska and was employed on a vineyard near Temperance Colony.

REV. BRISTOL STARTS LOCAL OPTION FIGHT

Speaks in Boles, Reedley and Oleander Against Amendment.

Rev. Irving B. Bristol of the Anti-Saloon League talked yesterday in Boles, Oleander and Reedley, in opening a campaign in this county in favor of the present local option law and of its application. He spoke in the former two towns in the forenoon, and at Reedley last night.

"Despite what any hot-heads in the organization may say, the Anti-Saloon League," he declared, "is making a fight for local option, as contained in this law, and that only. Statements that it is fighting for prohibition here are not so. We are continuing the fight to the local option issue." He took up the question of the amendment which the Grape Growers' Association of California intends to put before the next session of the legislature, to allow the serving of alcoholic liquors in hotels, restaurants, and clubs in so-called "dry" territory. This sort of thing, declared Bristol, is exactly what the people object to. He declared that in New York, when Sunday closing was enforced, the greatest trouble was found with cheap hotels which opened almost over night, and in which vice ran riot along with the sale of liquors.

FLAMES START IN ROOM; DAMAGE $30

Fire of unknown origin last night did $30 damage to the interior of a residence at 367 Calaveras avenue, between McKenna and Belmont. An alarm was turned in from box 43 and the apparatus from engine houses 1 and 5 and chemical 2 went to the scene. However, before the arrival of the engines the blaze was extinguished by neighbors who used buckets of water to their volunteer fireman act. The flames were discovered about 8 o'clock in a clothes closet in the home of A. A. Walker. The loss will not exceed $30, partly insured.

LODI GROWERS TO GET $20 PER TON

W. A. Young, a large stockholder in the Lodi Co-operative Winery, states that stockholders will receive dividends from the winery for this year's crop at the rate of $20 a ton. He bases his estimate on the profits the winery has paid the past two years. The stockholders are to receive a dividend of $40,000 on Thursday.

INSURANCE MEN EXAMINE PACKING HOUSES IN THIS CITY

Pleased With Result of Trip, Says Officer of Visiting Society.

Will Take in Winery at Calwa Today; Lunch
With Agents Here.

Visiting members of the Insurance association of San Francisco, a score and a half strong, made a round of the packing houses of Fresno yesterday, examining into fire risks. The trip embraced the houses on both Southern Pacific and Santa Fe, and was concluded during the forenoon. The inspection was general rather than specific in the case of any one house.

At noon, the visitors were guests of local insurance agents at a luncheon at the Sequoia Hotel. The afternoon was spent in pleasure jaunts to points of interest about Fresno, among the vineyards and to the vineyards by auto, and to Zapp's and Recreation parks. In these trips, the local agents acted still as hosts.

"Our inspection of the packing houses," explained President Dunn, "was not specific in any case. We were not looking into details of any fellow's plant, but were rather taking a general look over the general risk involved in insuring buildings of this class. The settling of individual cases is out of the sphere of the men on this trip, at present. On the whole, we were very much pleased with what we saw. And we are awfully well pleased with Fresno. As this is the first trip many of us have made here, we are certainly being shown some things."

The entire party will today make a trip to Calwa winery, where a stay will be made. As wineries are also insured by this party, fire risks will be looked into today, also. Tonight, the party will return to San Francisco.

FOR HIGH DOG TAX AND FEWER CANINES

Editor Republican:—I ask the privilege of making use of space in your paper through which to make a suggestion that is worthy of consideration by the municipal powers of Fresno. The problem of protecting innocent people from destruction by mad dogs demands solution. It is easy as two and two make four. The town has of dogs a myriad, mad or otherwise, of which it has no need. It has not as many dollars as would fill a toy bank, and has the need of many more. Therefore decrease the number of dogs and increase the number of dollars, by levying a tax of $5.00 per year upon each and every dog within the corporate limits. If such tax is paid upon one-fourth the present number of dogs the public treasury will be measurably enriched and the comparatively small dog residue will be a slight menace to public safety. There is no copyright on this intelligent suggestion. It is open to immediate use. Yours truly,
DOGMATIC.
